Meet the long day reds from Crookham Company: Red Devil, Purple Haze and Red Beret. These hybrids have proven to be grower friendly on several levels. They are consistent in bulb size, high yielding, hold up well with mechanical harvesting and are known for their long storage characteristics. In addition, these varieties have a deep rich color with distinct rings to please the grocer, processor or consumer. Crookham Company works closely with growers in several areas to develop effective and efficient answers to the Grower's needs.
